

2nd Art Workshop Closes Here July 22

By Diane Claypool
The second Art Education Workshop at Morehead State College began July 5 and will continue through July 22.
The workshop is planned to satisfy the art problems of elementary school teachers, high school teachers, art teachers, supervisors or anyone interested in teaching art. Treva Runyon, a professor of Art Education at Miami University, Oxford, O., will direct the workshop. Runyon has conducted many workshops in Ohio and is an expert in enameling, having had exhibits of her jewelry and other art on display.
The Workshop consists of lectures and participation in art activities, old and new, necessary information about materials and audio-visual aids used in art teaching, as well as the prevailing trends in the philosophy of presenting and developing these activities in the classroom and appraisal of most recent texts.
Workshop participants are Aqu Walters McClure, Flemingsburg; Nell Cornwell, Ashland; Don Lewis, Morehead; Goldie Haymaker, Salt Lake; Mrs. Jackie Tackett Burke, Virgie; Maude Stacy, Dwarf; Hans Sammons, Olive Hill; Don Young, McDermott, O.; Mary Lee Lacy, Gaysboro; Frances Cain, Louisville; Maxine Miller, Greenup; Others are: Ralph W. Hall, South Shore; Mrs. Bessie Standford, Manchester, O.; Mrs. Vera A. Thompson, Russell; Vada Pieratt, Fannin, Ashland; Myrtle Harris, Campton; Anna Mary Armstrong, Louisville; Bess Arrington, Caledonia; Mrs. Ruby C. Stephens, Monticello; Mary Ann Rankin, Flemingsburg; Elsie Barker, Jacksonville, Fla.; Mildred Reeder, Mansfield, O.
Others include: Eugenia Hattin, Campton; Mrs. Ruth Phillips Manning, Manchester, O.; Carroll Saunders, Owensboro; Elizabeth Ann Conley, Catlettsburg; Dollie Young, Wurland; Marilyn Green, Ashland; Rev. Gene, Greenup; Harriet W. Taylor, Sarasota, Fla.; Veneda Rose, Williamsport.

Basketball Whiz's Graduate Student

At the close of the 1949 basketball season at Kentucky Wesleyan College, all of Kentucky was heralding the fabulous 54 guard who had won the KMAC conference. Fairce Woods was a pint size goatee when he strode onto the hardwood for Kentucky Wesleyan. Probably one of the best known men on the Morehead State College campus, Woods is currently working towards a graduate degree in education. Fairce, currently maintaining a four point standing in his graduate work, is an individual who has recognized the progress evidenced by the growth of the school and has observed the changing atmosphere on the campus. While attending MSC, Woods has contributed to the betterment of the school and has observed the changing atmosphere on the campus. "Since I have been a student here at Morehead, the complexion of the college has changed greatly. The facilities have much improved that goes all the way from the student house right down to the dormitory room," said Woods. He continued, "However, I feel that the greatest attribute contributing force being Morehead's progress has been the fine leadership of President Adron Doran."

Not only has Woods noted the growth at Morehead, he has contributed to the athletic program at MSC. Fairce has been a colorful coach at Breathitt County High School during his stay there for the past seven years. While at Breathitt County, he has encouraged several of his finest basketball players to attend Morehead. Such athletes as Doug Cusick and Cecil Claire are two prospects that Woods has contributed to Morehead.

Dr. Doran Addresses Optimist Club

By Diane Claypool
Speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Optimist Club in Lexington recently, President Doran said that the "greatest impetus to the improvement of education in Kentucky will be called upon to take in the appropriations provided to the public schools by the 1950 General Assembly and the revenue program which was adopted to finance it."
He further stated that "it is my opinion that the teachers of Kentucky will give greater attention to organizing programs of instruction to fit the needs, interests and abilities of the individual pupils."
Dr. Doran said "an important step which the people of Kentucky will be called upon to take in improvement of education in the Commonwealth will be the question of authorizing a constitutional convention."

Dr. Jackson Commissioned Ky. Colonel

Dr. Crayton Jackson, associate professor of science at MSC, was recently commissioned a Kentucky Colonel for work with extension service in inservice training program throughout Eastern Kentucky.
Dr. Jackson, a native of Menifee County, has returned to Kentucky after doing graduate work out-of-state and serving with the U.S. Navy to be of service to his fellow Kentuckians.
He is listed in the current volumes of American Men of Science. Secretary of the Kentucky Kiwanis Club, Secretary of the Methodist Men's Club, and President of the Berea School Alumni Association.

600 New Books To Be Shown At Morehead

Nothing is more truly amazing than the reach and range of the child's mind, nor the extraordinary collection of books produced each year to inform it, stimulate it, satisfy it, and ultimately to educate it.
For what else could offer a greater challenge to the creative talents of author and artist than the pervasive curiosity of the child's mind, nor the extraordinary collection of books produced each year to inform it, stimulate it, satisfy it, and ultimately to educate it.
For what else could offer a greater challenge to the creative talents of author and artist than the pervasive curiosity of the child's mind, nor the extraordinary collection of books produced each year to inform it, stimulate it, satisfy it, and ultimately to educate it.

When I first attended MSC, the campus was small and was considered just a small Eastern Kentucky school for exclusive preparation of teachers. Since that day I first came to Morehead, there has been a rapid transition of this college into an education center that offers an extensive program in liberal arts and sciences.
Above all, in the past six years it is my belief that the selection of courses has been broadened and the faculty strengthened to provide this institution with a strong education program.
I can sincerely say that it is becoming more of a privilege to be a graduate of Morehead State College each year.
Arthur Watts, who graduated from Breckinridge High School in 1923 and entered Morehead State Teachers College in the Spring of 1924, also reports quite a change in MSC.
"At that time (1924) there were only Thompson Hall, Administration Building, Butler Building, Al Young Hall and Breckinridge Training School."

During this absence I taught in the Letcher County School system, Stuart Robinson High School and Kingdom Come High School. Near the foot hills of the Pine Mountains, near the region where John Fox, Jr. wrote the Trial of the Lonesome Pine and the Shepherd of the Hills.
It was a great surprise to me after coming back to Morehead and walking around the college campus and observing all the new buildings that have been erected within the past few years." He said.
"No other college in the state has made so much improvement and added so many magnificent buildings as Morehead State College. This program has been done under the direction and supervision of Dr. Adron Doran—one of Kentucky's most outstanding leaders and educators." Watts concluded.
Walt Tooley, a music teacher from Greer County who has attended summer school sessions for the past few years, says he has seen Morehead State College make almost unbelievable building progress in the past few years but states that he has equally been impressed with the advance of what he called "the learning process." "The caliber of the instructors and their work," he added, has been improved greatly and I feel that our staff compares favorably to an college or university man."

"The greatest thing that has happened to Morehead State College is Dr. Adron Doran," Tooley said. The boom of our college is the result of leadership. Much of the progress made in education through the state and region is also a product of this valuable educator," he continued.
"Many of us tend to look only at the improvements made a few years ago or last year—it is encouraging to note what we have now, but it is even more encouraging to anticipate the facilities that will be available in the next year or so."
"A sprawling dormitory is built which has never been used, roads are built which aren't used, a married housing project has never been used—but next year is another story. There is a small community up in that hollow alone," said Tooley.
"It is my understanding that a new industrial building and a classroom building and I don't know what all is planned for next year. This is something to look forward to," concluded Tooley.

'Operation Book Basket' To Be Continued Here

Operation Book-basket which got off to a flying start at the end of the spring term in June is being continued this summer as a special project of the Forensic Union. Some 150 usable books were collected in the first drive. Students to go to area schools whose libraries are in need of additional fiction and nonfiction books, all books collected will be screened and allocated for placement where they are most needed.

Glover Shows Art Education Movie

By Diane Claypool
Mr. Henry Glover, now at Buffalo State University, Buffalo, New York, will show a movie on the history of art education to several art classes.
The movie, originally from Morehead and went to school here, he attended Breck for all 12 years. Glover entered Morehead State in 1947.
He majored in art. One of his paintings has been exhibited in the Ohio Valley Exhibit, and also had many exhibits in the East.
We often wonder why so many people persist in believing there are people like those in the movies. That's so.

Alumni Of Morehead Normal School Meet

Former students of the old Morehead Normal School, predecessor of Morehead State College, met Sunday, June 26, on the Morehead campus and elected Virgil Bryan, Huntington, W. Va., as president.
Bryan, a certified public accountant, is a former president of the Morehead Normal School Club and is an outstanding contributor to the group's scholarship fund.
Dorothy Holbrook, Morehead, was elected vice-president and Anna Carter and Ruby Wood were elected for the secretary and treasurer positions, respectively.
President Ruth Lappin, presided at the Sunday meeting, which was held in Butson Auditorium and continued through an afternoon business session in the college cafeteria. Mrs. Lappin, wife of the dean of Morehead State College, gave the welcome to the group which numbered more than 70.

Mrs. Holbrook addressed the group on the topic, "The Best Year at Morehead Normal School." A skit, depicting a faculty meeting of the school some 50 years ago, was staged with Miss Margaret Bishop of Morehead playing the role of Mother Butson, the mother of the former president. Frank Button, Others participating in the skit were: Mrs. Otis Nickell, Ashland; Mrs. W. C. Foster, Ashland; Miss Sallie Parks; Herbert Bishop, Ashland; and Harry Bradley, Huntington, W. Va.

Former teachers of the M.N.S. who were present at the meeting were Dean Warren C. Lappin, Morehead, who was a teacher during the last three years of the institution's existence—1920-22; Otis Nickell, Ashland; and Mrs. Lewis B. Hart.

Morehead State College President Adron Doran addressed the group in the luncheon meeting and emphasized the value of the Normal School to the "building of the superstructure" which now exists on the semi-circular campus in the foothills of the beautiful Cumberland Mountains.
Dr. Doran further stated that "as the little boy, who desires a big circle after dropping a stone in the last three years of the college, is with the building of larger colleges." He praised the early

Normal School Alumni Meet

Normal School Alumni—The Morehead Normal School Alumni met June 26 electing Virgil Bryan, Huntington, West Virginia as president of the group. The Normal School was the predecessor of the present day Morehead State College. Bryan was elected as secretary of the organization. Dr. Doran addressed the group at the luncheon meeting.

Pittsburg Bound—The Morehead State College debating team is pictured discussing final strategy before departing for Pittsburg and an intercollegiate debating contest, held last Friday for the first summer.

Team members are: Ronald Barker, Mark Craft and Brent Fry, advisor.

For H. S. Debate Workshop Begins August 6

The Department of Speech and Drama will sponsor a High School Debate Workshop for 20 selected high school students Aug. 6-14.
The purpose of the workshop is to give intensive training in speech and debate techniques. Lectures will be on subjects of voice improvement; articulation and pronunciation; library research techniques; organization of speeches; special emphasis will be given to the construction of debate cases; testing of evidence and reasoning; rebuttal speeches.
Several hours a day will be spent doing research in the library and formulating speeches; in addition, special attention will be given to individual needs in practical laboratory work with the tape recorder. The speech teachers and sponsors of speech activities of Eastern Kentucky were contacted to furnish names of students capable and interested in attending the Workshop.
The response was quite encouraging with candidates from high schools at Olive Hill, Grayson, West Liberty (Morgan County High School), Sharpburg, Raceland, Catlettsburg, Mason County, Mayville, Hazel Green Academy, Rowan County and Breckinridge Training School.
